New Features And Functions

Posted by crystalcross - 05 May 2011 01:32

_____

Folks I'm happy to announce that over the last few days we have added a few new features to the system.

The first of these is the ability to block E-Mails. You can now block E-mails from senders whom you would rather not receive mail from.

Second we've added a "ShoutBox" style chat to our front page and many of the pages of our system. This is just a real quick chat system to enable you to send instant public shouts. Guests can send shouts as well at the moment. If abused that may change.

And finally, we've added additional Feature articles to the system. As we're expanding we will be adding some more feature article series to the site. I look forward to reading what some talented writers have to say.

Additionally as a teaser, we may be bringing our first live video investigation to you, stay tuned for more information. And thanks to the great teams we're working with.

==========

Re: New Features And Functions

Posted by sixsense - 05 May 2011 01:36

_____

Excellent, I love it...thanks

==========