I know it can cause some unerving feelings but if you are seeing stuff try not to let fear in. This will allow them to come in strong and overwhelm you. If youy see something usually you will learn too know if it is a vision for someone or a vision or encounter with a spirit. Alot of times they will come and it seems like a real life thing happening right then but most of the time it isn't. I do have problems with the same thing but i also see visions of the living and de3ad so akes its a little harder.
