this picture was taken at a accident site where a person lost their life with a motorcycle. many occasions families will ask me to go to the scene and see if their spirit is present and if so try to help release the spirit.when this picture was taken there was 5 people present and you could see this event occuring it lasted long enough for the father to turn on the camera and take the picture. For the family and myself this was conformation that the spirit was released.

Is the bright light in that picture a street light, or is that actually the spirit manifestation you're referring to?
