I'm trying to make out what I'm seeing. But there appears to be some thing light at the gate. Interesting lighting. Some things have strong shadows, others have hardly any at all.

Hey Crystal, I picked this photo just for this site; not so much for anything spiritual, but just for the look. I did have one intuitive tell me there were faces in this photo but I like it for the content.

Cheers.

I really like the photo, its very artistic. If you have full rights to it, and you would allow me I would love to use it somewhere on the site.

Thanks! I just have to find a place that will do it justice. Are you a professional photographer?

I really like the play on light in that photo. Good eye...

DW - I think the key is to make it black and white, that really tends to make the pictures pop.

Of course a high res camera helps also.
