Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by Lucas - 10 Apr 2012 16:52

_____

so... what do you all think of it? does it really work or not?

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by Tresses Of Nephthys - 10 Apr 2012 21:15

_____

In my opinion, Ouija is like driving a car. If you know how to do it, and have taken the proper precautions, you are fine. If you haven't,then it can be dangerous. It can work, but doesn't really work for me. Then again, I haven't done it with anyone in a very long time. I just find other methods more reliable for me.

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by bergenparanormal - 10 Apr 2012 21:49

_____

"It works", sort of.

Unless you have a truly gifted sensitive who can hopefully monitor who is coming through or not, this can be dangerous. You are not necessarily going to find communication with the intended target. In fact, in my experience negative entities find this very easy to cross through.

I don't know of a single reputable group that uses these as part of their investigation, and I believe it is for a reason.

Believe me, if you haven't had a negative force attached to you, you don't want to.

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by CCIEvansville - 10 Apr 2012 22:04

_____

I have used one, respectfully. And even seeing it first hand, I thiink it is dangerous. If you open a door that you can't close, don't touch the door. That's the way I look at it. I won't touch it ever again.

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by piersond84 - 10 Apr 2012 22:12

_____

I've used them before and I wouldn't recommend them. You never know what is in contact with you. I can promise you, it's not who you think.

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by soodazed - 10 Apr 2012 22:21

_____

yeah it did get out of hand useing the board it was like we thrived on it , we needed it. i think it needed us, needed our energy. but in the end we were not able to close the last door,as i was still in my teens. my dad took it from me and my cousin and snapped it

amazing things did come true .we really messed iwth it and it messed with us. things happened that couldnt be explained. there is good in there but i would say mostly evil. and it was asking us questions. it wanted knowledge, trust, basically in truth the evil wants your soul

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by soodazed - 10 Apr 2012 22:27

_____

yes it does work when you are the boss

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by piersond84 - 10 Apr 2012 22:32

_____

It does work. You just never know what is gonna happen. Just like you said sometimes you can't close that last door. I've used them many times. Sometimes playing around and sometimes I was looking for a certain person. I never got the person I really wanted to talk to though.

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD
Posted by soodazed - 10 Apr 2012 22:39

_____

that was one thing we never did. we never asked to speak to a certain person . we would open and ask are you evil? when it didnt answer or would just kinda move in cicles we would close it and try again until we got the answer. i really would pidd it off by spinning the pointer. it would swear at me after that. then weird stuff would happen(unexplained noises, shadows would happen) then i would have bad luck for three days

we had no fear of it, we thought we were in control ..my cousins mother had to bring a priest into their house cause of crap happening.

==========

Re: Considering OUIJA BOARD

Posted by Tresses Of Nephthys - 10 Apr 2012 22:50

_____

That's basically my rule #1: you must ask for someone specific. You wouldn't leave your front door unlocked in a bad neighborhood and you wouldn't put your home address up and invite everyone on Twitter or Facebook to your house (at least I hope not). Just a matter of common sense, right? lol

==========