West Creek
Posted by irisheyes1223 - 05 Mar 2011 20:56

---

Discuss photo: West Creek

==========

West Creek
Posted by crystalcross - 05 Mar 2011 21:23

---

Wow, not thats an enigma. Its clearly not a bug. As you can tell by the arc in trajectory of the object. That's the pattern of something propelling away from the person taking the picture at a high rate of speed. Now assuming this was a flash photograph that would mean whatever it was was moving pretty fast. I'm going to see what I can see in the shadows.

==========

Re: West Creek
Posted by crystalcross - 05 Mar 2011 21:35

---

Very interesting. Here's what I found... First the white motion...

This clearly looks like a drop of some form of liquid. Notice the sideways teardrop shape. This is the clear indication of liquid at a high rate of speed. And since it moved in that distance in the time that that the image was shot, I would think its moving fairly fast. I know this sounds bad, but did someone sneeze when this image was taken? Do you have the voice recordings from this time code?

I'm a bit curious about this though. Was someone standing there, or was there some form of reef or something standing by this gravestone? Thats very interesting.

==========

Re: West Creek
Posted by crystalcross - 06 Mar 2011 00:10

---

Very interesting.  Whatever it is, it had weight.  So it wasn't just energy.

==========