I would have to strongly agree. Everyone I talk go from G&H basically has mirrored your sentiment. The team from S.P.O.O.Ks is a very well rounded team. Perfect mix of good investigation, communication, and also just enough silly antics to keep the attention span and involvement going. Without the drama and over dramatization which often leaks into the public investigations.

I can't wait until their next Live investigation, and can only say that I look forward to a time when their funds will allow for LIVE MOBILE tech which will knock everyone's socks off. And I'm sure that time will come before long.
