

Little tricks

Posted by Zombie_baby - 10 Mar 2012 06:08

What tricks do you use to keep yourself awake for an investigation? Do you eat candy or use energy drinks. Or is it that the place is just keeping you on your toes! I've always been curious.

=====

Re: Little tricks

Posted by metalbabe73 - 10 Mar 2012 06:18

some of our members drink energy drinks, some coffee..always a lot of snack food !

=====

Re: Little tricks

Posted by mcprs - 10 Mar 2012 06:22

Most of the time my energy comes from the excitement of the investigation itself but energy drinks never hurt.

=====

Re: Little tricks

Posted by crystalcross - 10 Mar 2012 13:51

Another thing you will want to try to do is to adjust your schedule to the investigation a day ahead or so to be able to be more alert during the late hours whenever possible.

Obviously as the hours go more into the morning the investigators usually become a bit more giddy. But you can reduce that by just getting your body acclimated to it a bit for a day or so. Of course the day after is hell when you have to adjust back.

That's all compounded by the fact that in many cases you'll have driven all day just to get to the location.

=====

Re: Little tricks

Posted by kctkd - 10 Mar 2012 13:59

Physical and mental training helps. Like Jason said, the energy of the investigation keeps you awake and like crystalcross said, the next day is hell!! If you stay fully engaged in the investigation it is pretty easy to stay awake.

=====