This picture was taken at the cemetery by the gates at the old part of the city. The row of tomb stones were the soldiers that fought in the civil war . If you look at the energy it seem to be striking a stone. The picture was taken between 2:00 am and 3 am the weather was clear.

To answer your question yes the same picture. There were almost 200 people show up I wasn't expecting that large of the crowd. The manna charge, like I said no one will believe you and if you got a picture they will tell you its dust. Thank You for coming
