I have to agree here. BHPI has, like any other paranormal group, has experienced enough criticism from people who don't understand or accept what we do. People already do not respect us and see in public media that some groups run around and cuss and scream and provoke. This does NOTHING to help the field.

OK to clear things up. Me and dementedwarlok help run tours at this old jail. They don't want video out due to the artwork on the walls from the prisoners. He told the woman we work with he shot a little video of the jail not of the walls. As for the name calling and other stuff is unneeded. We have been doing this a long time and have been in the Paranormal community for over 10 years. So before you start shooting us down best find out the whole story. I don't down any paranormal group to each their own. But I will not stand for other calling people out and this type of stuff on here and I know crystalcross wont either.

The above posts have been edited. I will not allow or stand for cussing in the forums or on the site.

We have a wide audience at a wide range of ages and that is just not needed. I'm a firm believer in freedom of speech and I try not to prevent individuals from voicing their opinion. But I do require not request a few things.

#1 - Absolutely no cussing.

#2 - Even if you may not agree with what someone posted, be respectful of their post. Its possible to share your opinion in a way that does not come across as a personal attack.

#3 - Absolutely no personal attacks on people especially members of this site.

We're all adults here, lets all act like it. This does not aim at any person, please don't feel it does.

It goes out to all involved, and any future individuals who may feel the need to express themselves in a way that does not respect other members of this site.

Folks, let me say a few things. Although I don't condone DW's reaction to the original post, I do have to say that I've known him for quite some time and I know for a fact he's a very good investigator and only means the best things for the world of paranormal investigation. Whether or not it was right to record the video or not I can't say as I don't know all the circumstances around it. But when it comes to investigating, I know he knows his stuff. And I also know that he is respectful of the establishments where he investigates.

Focus on the problem, not the individual. Its Thanksgiving, can't we all just get along? If we can't get along as a society of paranormal investigators, how can we ever bring unity to the cause. Discuss your differences, but don't be quick to judge.
