Ghost story collector from Glasgow
Posted by ghostlyaspects - 30 Jun 2012 22:10

Hi, I run a folklore website which specialises in ghost stories, especially ones from my part of Scotland (the area gets neglected because Edinburgh has more ghosts than living people!). Anyway, I've been into ghosts for a very long time, and find running a website on them is a good way to pass an economic recession!

My site is called Ghostly Aspects. It's just started really, so not a lot of stuff up yet.

==========

Re: Ghost story collector from Glasgow
Posted by Steven Matrix - 01 Jul 2012 01:31

Sounds very cool. Let us all know what you've got going on with your site. I have good memories of Scotland. I had an international pen pal from there as a child.

Keep us updated and good luck with it.

Matrix

==========

Re: Ghost story collector from Glasgow
Posted by ghostlyaspects - 01 Jul 2012 01:38

It's a website geared towards collected ghost stories from around Glasgow, though I also have a section for tales from everywhere else. It also includes a general ghost/folklore blog on the main page where I write reviews and other things. The link is ghostlyaspects.blogspot.co.uk/

Thanks!

==========

Re: Ghost story collector from Glasgow
Posted by AngelaAdame - 04 Jul 2012 02:11

Hi I like to check out new sites, I will look into yours this week:) I'm interested in all kind around the field of the supernatural:)

==========